

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

April 3, 2009

Acella Construction awarded Animal Hospital Project in Weymouth, MA

NORWELL, Mass. (April 3, 2009)—Acella Construction Corporation, announced that they had been selected to build the South Coastal Animal Health facility, located in Weymouth, MA. The 2 story, 7,900 s/f facility, which will be located on Main Street, will include six new exam rooms, a new surgery suite, and an in-house X-ray suite, in addition to several doctors' offices and a lounge area. The site will require a complex sub-surface infiltration system. The project is scheduled to be completed in October 2009. Once completed, the new building will eventually replace South Coastal Animal Health's current 2,200sf facility.

“Acella Construction is very excited to have been selected to build this project. We feel we've assembled a great team and are excited to get started. This project will give us the opportunity to deliver the type of first class facility that the current customers of South Coastal Animal Health are accustomed to,” said David Dirubbo, President of Acella Construction. The project architect is Copich & Associates Architects.

About Acella Construction Corporation

Headquartered in Norwell, Mass. Acella Construction Corporation is one of New England's leading construction services firms, specializing in construction management, general contracting, design-build, and pre-construction services for a wide-range of clients, focusing on the commercial, corporate, education, healthcare, retail, and restaurant markets. For more information, please visit www.acellaconstruction.com.